Legislation is needed to protect living organ donors

Donating a kidney is one of the most altruistic actions a person can take, and being a living donor is much easier when you have guaranteed paid leave from work and protection from insurance discrimination. AKF has been spearheading efforts at the state and federal levels to get such legislation enacted. Until federal legislation passes that would give baseline protections to donors nationwide, states should enact living donor protection laws, including: anti-insurance discrimination for life, disability and long-term care insurance; job-protected leave from private employers; job-protected leave from public employers; tax credits for employers who provide paid leave; direct reimbursements, tax credits or tax deductions for donor expenses; paid leave via Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) laws; and extended FMLA leave (more than 60 days).
